

A newly established independent special school is seeking to appoint a Creative Psychotherapist to complement our growing team of Teachers and Support Workers.

School: Wolfdale School, Cropston Road, Anstey, Leicestershire, LE7 7BP

Start Date: as soon as possible

Paid Salary Band: £21,000 (if newly qualified) to £26,000 p.a. depending on experience

Contract: Permanent, 42 weeks p.a to include 38 weeks term time, 1 week teacher training days and 3 weeks planning time to be worked flexibly during school holidays. The hours are 8.30am-4.30pm Monday-Friday.

Staff benefits: Company Pension with 2% employer contribution.

Closing Date for Applications: 29/3/19

Wolfdale is a newly established and growing independent special school for students with various difficulties and disabilities such as ASD, ADHD, SEMH and challenging behaviour. We are now looking for a Creative Psychotherapist to join our team, taking a therapeutic lead in the school which will focus on the emotional and social wellbeing of our students. Whether you are a trained Art, Drama or Music therapist we are looking for somebody to engage with our students and build their confidence. A Supervision qualification is also desirable but not essential for the role.

You will be a member of the Health and Care Professions Council.

You will need to enjoy the challenge of working in a flexible and creative way with students who struggle to concentrate and often demonstrate challenging behaviour. You will also be able to demonstrate you are a self-motivated team player.

Clinical Supervision will be funded externally and no further clinical or professional training is required for the post.

We are welcoming applications from experienced therapists.

If you like the sound of this exciting opportunity, please forward an application form to Sunny Dogra, The Head of School on head@wolfdaleschool.co.uk.

We look forward to hearing from you.